BINGHAMTON UNIVERSITY | COLLEGE OF COMMUNITY AND PUBLIC AFFAIRS

Research Participants Needed: Self-Disclosure and Resilience Among Adults Who Stutter

Dear Potential Participant,

My name is Ladan Khoshbin, and I am a doctoral student in the Community Research and Action Program at Binghamton University, under the supervision of Dr. Rodney Gabel. I am conducting a research study exploring the relationship between self-disclosure and resilience among adults who stutter.

You may be eligible to participate if you:

- Are 18 years of age or older;
- Identify as a person who stutters or have a history of developmental stuttering; and
- Are able to read and understand English.

Participation involves completing an online survey that takes approximately 20 minutes. Participants who complete the survey will receive a $5 electronic gift card. At the end of the survey, participants may also indicate whether they are interested in participating in a follow-up interview. Individuals selected for and completing an interview will receive an additional $30 electronic gift card.

Please access the link below to review the Informed Consent, which will provide further details on the research and your rights as a participant. By accessing the survey, you are consenting to participate in that part of the research. At the end of the survey, you will be taken to a landing page where, if you agree to participate in the interview segment of the research, you will be asked to provide your contact information.

[Qualtrics Survey Link]

If you have questions about the study, please contact:

Ladan Khoshbin
Doctoral Student
Community Research and Action Program
Binghamton University
lkhoshbinsar@binghamton.edu